

Tony Ryan

Futurist

Tony has supported over 1000 business and educational organisations in 12 countries on developing their future pathways.

He is the author of books that focus on innovative thinking. His latest is The Next Generation, which was released through Wiley and Sons publishers. As part of the promotion for this book, he appeared on national TV, and in numerous radio and newspaper interviews.

His upcoming book will be called How To Predict The Future... most of the time, in which he explores the powerful ways that we can accurately determine many future events through analysis, probability, and a small dose of intuition.

tonyryan.com.au

TONY RYAN
FUTURIST AUTHOR SPEAKER

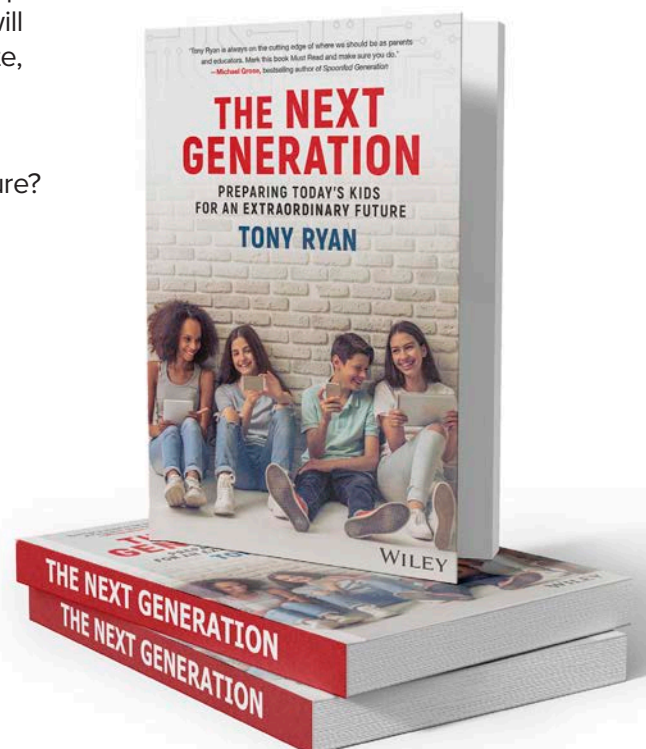

SIGNATURE KEYNOTE:

Navigating the Future

By the mid-2030s, the business world will be awash with disruptive AI. Large Language Models such as Chat-GPT will only be the start of the astonishing possibilities awaiting us up ahead. Although it is difficult to predict the timeframes, we will eventually be working with robots in a combination of remote, live, and augmented business practices.

What might this 2030s world look and feel like?
What capabilities will Gen Z really need for this dramatic future?
Will we see an eventual hybridization between robots and humans? How can we ensure that this upcoming tech remains focused on humans rather than robots?

This provocative, practical and entertaining presentation will explore some possible scenarios for tomorrow's business environments, and then clarify a series of sustainable and future-preparing actions that we can take today.

tonyryan.com.au